To Whom It May Concern:

Re: Dr. Reshat Memiche (Resat Memisoglu)

Dr. Reshat Memiche has been a resident in Internal Medicine in our program commencing in 1983. He completed three years of General Internal Medicine before entering the subspecialty program in Gastroenterology. During this time, he had the following clinical training:

2 months	-	Respirology
2 months	-	Gastroenterology
6 months	-	General Medicine
2 months	-	Dermatology
2 months	-	Cardiology
2 months	-	Coronary Care Unit
2 months	-	Neurology
3 months	-	Nephrology
1 month	-	Rheumatology
1 month	-	Endocrinology
2 months	-	Hematology
1 month	-	Medical Intensive Care Unit

As a third year or senior level resident, he had more responsibility for consultations and for supervision of more junior housestaff. During the third year, his rotations included:

4 months	-	Senior General Medicine Resident
1 month	-	Medical Intensive Care Unit
3 months	-	Infectious Diseases
1 month	-	Coronary Care Unit
2 months	-	Respirology
2 months	-	Cardiology

These rotations included the clinical skills necessary to complete the rotation, understanding of the basic anatomy, physiology and biochemistry of the disease system involved as well as knowledge of pathology and therapeutics in that area. He spent extra time in Radiology as a Gastroenterology Fellow.

During this time, Dr. Memiche performed his duties satisfactorily and was granted permission to sit the examinations in Internal Medicine here in Canada, which he passed on his first attempt.

Dr. Memiche has informed me that specific training in biochemistry is required by the Turkish authorities. It should be noted that the Residency Training Program requires that experience in basic sciences, including biochemistry, be included in all of the clinical rotations, in teaching sessions, etc. A certain amount of this knowledge requirement is based on individual work by the resident himself, but all of our formal teaching sessions are expected to include basic science aspects of the diseases or conditions being discussed in that lecture or seminar.

If any more information is required, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely yours,

Dr. C. R. T. Dean, M. D.
Head of Department of Medicine
Camp Hill Hospital
Halifax

Dear Dr. Dean,

I have very much enjoyed my rotation at CHH. The atmosphere is very friendly and co-operative and I feel a very good teaching hospital. There are certain points I would like to make, however, particularly those dealing with transfers from other hospitals.

When a medical resident from another hospital (usually the VGH) is in need of a medical bed s(he) phones the admitting department of this hospital. Information on beds is not given immediately, as s(he) is reminded that the "procedure" is to go through the medical resident on call who usually phones back the admitting dep't, gets a bed count, and relays the message back to the VGH. Thus the process is delayed. I do not mean to criticize the admitting dep't as "they are not permitted" to reveal this information.

A second problem is that admitting is usually behind on the actual number of available beds. If the medical resident does not take the initiative to visit all the nursing stations her (him) self and actually check up on the bed situation then s(he) is also behind on the bed count.

Medical residents are unaware that they can borrow beds from the surgical department, be it in the ICU or on the surgical floors.

I should stress that finding beds can be "extremely difficult" at the VGH at times. The resident, who may be behind on consultations and in dire need of one or more beds is on the phone spending precious time looking, sometimes begging for a place to admit the patient, while the patient awaitsⁿ the ER. It is not uncommon for a general medical admission to be admitted off-service to a surgical floor at VGH because there was "nothing available" at CHH. Or this general medical patient may hve to go on one of the subspecialty beds which may be protected.

The medical (family) resident at CHH MUST do his (her) best to help out their colleagues wishing to transfer patients. It's too easy to inadvertently give incorrect information on possible beds.

Emergency Room Physicians at VGH at times transfer the patients directly themselves. Unfortunately their CHH bed count may be even further behind than ours.

It is the responsibility of the resident at Camp Hill to make sure that all necessary investigations have been done prior to transfer, eg: X-RAY

EKG

LAB

PREVIOUS MEDICAL RECORDS

If a patient is transferred without such investigation it may be difficult to attain. It is not necessary for a "full medical work-up" or a "medical consult" prior to transfer. These can be done after transfer. As long as the patient is stable enough to be transferred and has the appropriate x-rays, etc. with him the transfer should be made as easily as possible.

Grand Rounds, and other teaching rounds were very informative and interesting. ICU rounds are excellent (too bad clinical clerks are^{not} required to attend, work load permitting).

Drug information centre have gone out of their way to provide articles, information, etc. They have been exceptionally helpful.

Physiotherapy, Dietary and Nursing Staff have worked very closely with the medical staff.

Thank-you very much.

I hope to come back as a senior next year.

Yours sincerely

Dr. Reshat Memiche, R II

Aberdeen Hospital
New Glasgow, Nova Scotia

Dear John:

It was extremely nice to see you at the meeting of the Nova Scotia Medical Society, but as I mentioned I really miss you here.

I was in New Glasgow in the summer, and I called you on the phone, but unfortunately there was no answer.

The reason I am writing you this letter is regarding a young man, Dr. Reshat Memiche, who I have known for the last ten years, and as a matter of fact, he is also a class mate of my son, Atila, who together they went through a very tough period of time studying in Istanbul University under very adverse political, and social conditions, but in spite of that Reshat survived, and finished his medical school with a good success. He was also able to write all of his Canadian qualifying exams for the foreign graduate medical students, and he did show interest in internal medicine, and I was luckily able to get him a position with the Department of Internal Medicine, but the most influential part of that acceptance was his very pleasant and nice personality.

He just recently accomplished with success his written part of his F.R.C.P. Canadian examination, and he is waiting to go for his orals in June 1987.

Reshat is a very hard working, sincere, intelligent, very pleasant young man. He has a special interest in gastroenterology, and I am sure he will have no difficulty in mastering that branch.

His father who is a physician, practicing in Montreal, is a very serious, and a very successful practitioner. He has a brother who is also a physician, and doing his pediatric residency in the West.

I understand Reshat has applied to work in your hospital, and I have no reservations what so ever to highly recommend him for the position he is applying. I don't believe Reshat will have any trouble because of his eagerness to work, extreme interest to learn, and very liked personality between all his friends and acquaintances, and he will make a very good contribution to your hospital.

I would be more than glad to answer any other questions I have not covered in this letter.

Very truly yours,

Dr. V. Ketene.
